Journed until Friday morning at ten o'clock.

Both Judge Whitney and Judge Robinson adjourned their courts for twenty-four hours, the same action being taken in the Federal court and Judge Cooper would have adjourned but for the fact that there was a case on the calendar for which the jury had been summoned already, and the court did not think under the present condition of the finances that he was justified in paying the jurors and adjourning the court.

The remarks made in the Supreme Court were brief but full of praise for the departed citizen who was one of the foremost of the territory.

Chief Justice Hartwell, from the bench said:

In the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii, In the Matter of the Proceedings in Memory of Honorable A. S. Cleghorn, Deceased.

Present—Circuit Judges Cooper, Whitney and Robinson, and Mr. W. L. Stanley of the bar, also the clerks and bailiffs of the supreme court and the first circuit court.

The court has come in without any previous notice, for the purpose of adjourning out of respect for the memory of Mr. Cleghorn, a man beloved of everybody in Hawaii. It is 42 years since I first made Mr. Cleghorn's acquaintance and during all these years I have had frequent opportunity of observing his kindly, amiable traits, his high sense of honor and his excellent judgment. I shall join the community in mourning his loss.

Judge Cooper: May it please the court, it was with a feeling of genuine sorrow and regret that I learned last night through a telephone message that the Honorable A. S. Cleghorn was dead. I have known him quite intimately during the entire period of my residence in these islands, now something over twenty years, and especially through the trying years of change in form of government I found Mr. Cleghorn to be courteous, considerate and at all times patriotic. During the latter years, the past five or six years, I have been quite intimately associated with Mr. Cleghorn and I have found the same spirit of love for his dear country, his love for the Hawaiians—not only for the Hawaiians, but love for all those who resided here—foreigners as well as native born, and I feel a personal loss at his death. I believed also that the community has suffered a serious loss in his going from us. He certainly has been sturdy in his ideas of the administration of public affairs and his influence has often been felt in dealing with weighty questions concerning the government and conditions in this beautiful Territory of ours. I feel that we all sincerely mourn his loss.

One of the most beautiful places in the islands, a home where all have been received alike; where, in the past, joy has been unconfined in today shrouded in gloom, for the master is dead.

Hon. A. S. Cleghorn passed away at his beautiful home, Alahau, shortly before nine o'clock last night after an illness that has extended over a number of weeks. A couple of weeks ago the daily papers of the city stated that he was seriously indisposed and was confined to his home but this was not looked on as a nearing the end and, in fact he did rally for a time. But it seems that the doctors knew better and warned the family that he would never be well again and that they had better prepare for the worst. This information was however kept from even intimate friends and the news of his death was considerable of a shock to the whole city generally.

There will be a meeting of the Kamehameha Alumni at the club house this evening at 7:30, a full attendance is requested. Important business before members.

The funeral of the late Governor A. S. Cleghorn will be held from the St. Andrew's Cathedral at 2 p. m. Sunday. The Territorial officials will have charge of the ceremonies.

The only matter taken up in the Federal Court this morning was the matter of the "lumber trust case" in which Judge Dole gave the government thirty days to file its brief and the defense thirty days beyond that time to file the answer. All other matters were carried over as the court adjourned out of respect to the late Governor Cleghorn.

Big seas rolled in from the south this morning and prevented the regular trip of the little United States quarantine launch Oahu to incoming war vessels and lumber schooner Alice Cooke. The Federal quarantine officers boarded the Japanese vessels as they steamed through the channel. The Alice Cooke came inside the harbor with her yellow flag displayed at the foremast and was also visited by the health authorities just a few minutes before going to her dock.

IN FOREIGN PORTS.

Tuesday, November 1.

SAN FRANCISCO—Sailed Nov. 1: S. S. S. Tenyo Maru, for Honolulu.

HAMBURG—Sailed Oct. 14: Ship Mabel Rickmers, for Honolulu.

PORT SAN LUIS—Arrived Nov. 1: S. S. Santa Rita, hence Oct. 21.

Enjoyed the best of health, was rugged and strong in nature and seemed to be good for a long useful life, but since that event he has slowly been going down hill as to health and had grieved within himself to an unlimited extent.

Father Died Here.

It was the death of Mr. Cleghorn's father that caused him to remain in these islands. The party that made up Mr. Cleghorn's family arrived in Honolulu harbor in June, 1851, coming from Auckland. Their intention was to go on to the coast but the death of Mr. Cleghorn's father whilst the ship was in this harbor decided the family to remain here and carry on the work that they had planned to carry on when they had arrived at their destination on the mainland.

Built Own Fortune.

Mr. Cleghorn was but sixteen years of age when he landed on Oahu and with his stock in trade which consisted of willing hands and an active supply of gray matter under his skull, he went to it with a view of arriving some place near the top and the record he made and the monuments that he has left behind give testimony to his success.

Successful Career.

Starting with a humble clerical position, he made for himself a career, in the periods of which he appeared first as a wealthy merchant, then as a successful leader of politics, then as a member of the house of nobles, then as the husband of Princess Likeli, sister of Queen Liliuokalani, and still later, through appointment of Queen Liliuokalani, he became Governor of Oahu. After a two-years' term in this honorable position he was appointed collector-general of customs, which position he held until the overthrow of the monarchy in 1893.

To Private Life.

A few years ago Mr. Cleghorn retired to private life, but if any thing it was more public than before through certain channels. He became prominently identified with charitable institutions and devoted a large part of his time to the improvement of the condition of public parks and kindred institutions throughout the city. He has held many positions of honor in the affairs of the islands and at the time of his death was a prominent mason and trustee of Hawaiian Lodge.

Death was due to heart failure. Mr. Cleghorn would have been seventy-five years of age on November 15, this year. He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland.

STORM-TOSSED COASTERS SPEND WINDY NIGHT IN CHANNEL

TWO STEAMERS REACH PORT AFTER ROUGH PASSAGE—JAPANESE VESSELS AT NAVAL WHARVES—MONGOLIA DEPARTS FOR ORIENT, TAKING A NUMBER OF PASSENGERS.

Two storm-tossed coasting steamers belonging to the inter-island boat made port this morning after experiencing one of the wildest nights in many months while crossing the Kaula channel.

The steamer W. G. Hall was the first arrival, that vessel coming to her wharf shortly before 7 o'clock. Purser James Logan reports experiencing the roughest sort of weather. From light easterly winds the weather steadily grew worse until strong southerly gales prevailed, with high seas. On board the Hall were a number of Japanese who intended to participate in the entertainment of the officers and men belonging to the Nipponese squadron. The Hall brought a light cargo, including 2 horses, 10 hales and 15 packages merchandise.

The Likeli reached port at noon today, and her officers report having experienced the same sort of weather after leaving Eleie. The Likeli brought neither passengers nor cargo.

Wilhelmnia Off for Hilo. The Matson Navigation steamer Wilhelmnia will sail for Hilo at five o'clock tomorrow evening with those passengers brought down from the coast who intend to visit the volcano before returning to the mainland. The Wilhelmnia is discharging a large shipment of general merchandise at this port. Twelve hundred tons of freight will be carried to the Hawaii port.

Japanese Vessels at Naval Wharf.

The first-class Japanese cruiser Asama and the little war vessel Kasagi came inside the harbor at an early hour this morning and by ten o'clock were alongside the No. 2 naval wharf. The vessels sailed from the last Japanese port of call on October 16th. The officers on board the Asama tell of a pleasant passage across the Pacific. They report no sickness among a crew of some six hundred officers and men. On board the Asama there are over ninety naval cadets. The addition of the two vessels at Naval Row this morning did much to brighten up the appearance of the harbor, which has been some what gloomy of late.

The vessels will remain at the port for a week before rearing the cruise which will include visits to Mexico, Central and South America. While at Honolulu both vessels will take on a considerable amount of coal and supplies.

Alice Cooke Here With Lumber.

A shipment of lumber has arrived at the port by the American schooner Alice Cooke. This vessel was reported off the harbor early this morning and she was brought in and berthed shortly before ten o'clock. The cargo comes consigned to Lewers & Cooke. The vessel was thirty-three days in making the passage from Port Gamble to the islands.

European Cargo for Honolulu.

A large shipment of European merchandise ranging from galvanized iron ware to gins is enroute to Honolulu from Hamburg, by the German ship Mabel Rickmers. This vessel is reported by late advices as having sailed for the islands on October 14th.

Tenyo Maru Is Enroute.

A cable received at the agency of H. Hackfeld & Co. announces the departure of the Japanese liner Tenyo Maru from San Francisco at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. The vessel is enroute to Japan and China ports calling at Honolulu.
